Dear Colleagues:

The American Law & Economics Association (ALEA) is now accepting submissions to the 2019 Annual Meeting, which will be held on Friday and Saturday, May 17-18, at New York University School of Law. Please go to following site to submit your paper:

https://editorialexpress.com/cgi-bin/conference/conference.cgi?action=login&db_name=ALEA2019

The deadline for submissions is ~~Saturday, January 19, 2019~~ [extended to Tuesday, January 29, 2019]. Instructions for submission are attached to this email as a pdf file. Please read it closely.

Further information about the Annual Meeting has been posted on the ALEA Annual Meeting site (<http://www.amlecon.org/alea-meeting.html>), including lodging information. Please note that the Association was able to procure only a limited number of rooms to block for this year's meeting, given the other events going on in New York during the month of May. Thus, it is very important that you make your reservations as soon as the lodging information becomes available. Furthermore, because any unused room reservations will be released one month prior to the conference, it is important that you do not wait too long to make a reservation if you want to take advantage of the conference rates.

Please forward this announcement to any person or organization you know that may be interested in submitting papers, particularly individuals who are less connected to the ALEA, but whose participation would enrich the conference.

I look forward to seeing you in New York in May.

Sincerely,
